

Isolated (Gives 2 Bonus Points)- The PC spent the last few years in isolation from other humans, either because of some mental illness, some disease, or some other reason. The PC has lost some of his or her life skills over this period of isolation. The PC starts with only 100 levels in Life skills (-8 from full).

Obsessive Compulsive (Gives 3 Bonus Points)- The PC has a neuroanatomy or personality that makes him or her especially susceptible to using the Worrying distraction. Has the following effects:

Any time PC gains Trauma or stops distracting himself/herself from Trauma, make 30 difficulty WIL roll to avoid using the Worrying distraction.

PC must start the game distracting self from half (rounded up) of Trauma with the Worrying distraction.

For each level of Worrying, the PC gains one additional Impulse or Ritual.

+8 to any INL or AWR roll involving small details.

Panic Attacks (Gives 4 Bonus Points)- Whenever the PC has 1 or more points of conscious Trauma, at least once every day the PC must make a 30 difficulty save vs. fear. If the PC fails, the PC is overwhelmed by fear and is at -10 to all rolls for 1 minute per point of failure.

Poor Body Image (Gives 3 Bonus Points)- Whenever the PC suffers from low Self Worth, he or she starts having delusions about being ugly. At -1 Self Worth balance, the PC thinks he or she is much less attractive than he or she really is. At -3 Self Worth balance, the PC thinks he or she is the ugliest person in the city. At -5 Self Worth, the PC must make a moderate save vs. fear any time the PC sees an image of himself or herself. If the PC ever suffers from delusions or hallucinations from any source, they are likely to involve the PC's ugliness. The PC starts with the dislike "ugly" (shifting Self-Worth balance down by one) which cannot be disproved unless the PC has no other dislikes.

Porn-Scars (Gives 4 Bonus Points)- The character has clearly visible scars of plastic surgery (a new trend in the sex industry, see p.14). These scars permanently mark the character as someone who has manipulated his or her own body through painful surgery in order to be a better commodity in the sex industry. The PC starts with -1 Self Worth balance. Though different people will have different reactions to seeing these scars, it gives +10 to seduction rolls to seduce creeps and porn addicts.
